Who am I?

I'm an artist. Whether it be traditional, digital, or professional, I love every pixel and drop of paint because it creates something unique about what I do. My name is Lindsay Roberts. I was born and raised in Leesburg, FL, and have been living here ever since.

I've always had a thing for art. Call it talent or a calling, but it's been in my life since I can remember. That is what brought me to Full Sail, and has helped me realize my dream for Web Design and Development.

Why choose me?

My designs are bold, I have extensive experience in UX design, and I have a process. It starts with a sketch and then I progress to wireframes and Photoshop compositions before building your website. Why do I do this? Because it ensures that your website comes out looking beautiful.

- Bold Designs: Stand out, be different and get noticed. I can help you do this.
- UX Design: Essentially, this is user-focused design. Not only will you be happy, but your clients will be, too.
- Process: The preproduction process is essential. Without it, your website, logo, or graphic may not represent what you stand for.

Accolades

“ The themes were exactly what I was looking for. I highly recommend Lindsay for your project. ”

— Gary Leavens www.gamereview.tv

“ Amazing artist. I will definitely be using her again. ”

— Aaron Warshaw www.rhinocrunch.com

My Portfolio

I love to push myself and one day, it is my ambition to push the boundaries of the web itself.

This is a small showcase of the work I've done as a student and for clients in the past year. Every project I do is an opportunity to present to the world what I'm made of.

Each case study provides images of my workflow and a description of my process. After all, that's what you want to see, isn't it? And as a treat, I even included my workflow for this website. Check it out as well as some of my other work, digital and traditional!

December 20, 2012

Okay, so I'm pretty happy with the grades. I wish I'd studied for the Final, or else I could have gotten a 100%. I only missed two questions, but I was preoccupied with a death in the family, unfortunately. I still got an A+, so what does...

December 17, 2012

Hey everyone. It's officially break, and until Christmas I've been super bored. I ended up doing this Wallpaper. It's not very Christmasy, so I'm going to do another one, soon. I was actually recording this, but my computer ended up crashing half-way through, so I lost my...

December 13, 2012

For the final project, we were supposed to create a poster-esque something that was one of the art styles we'd learned about in class. The teacher allowed me to do something a bit more traditional, since we're rarely ever able to do some...

In this particular lab, I believe the goal was trying to get students to open up. What I really enjoy about this class is that you really do have creati freedom, for the most part. The exercise, I believe, helped to get students to understand...
