My Work

I'm not restricted just to digital art. I also like to do fine art from time to time when I can.

Visit my portfolio to see some of my traditional work.

Latest Blog Post

Hey everyone. It's officially break, and until Christmas I've been super bored. I ended up doing this Wallpaper. It's not very Christmasy, so I might do another one, soon. I was actually recording this but my computer ended up crashing half-way through, so I lost my recording. Sorry. :( I'll be sure to get another one for you guys. So here it is...

Recent Freebies

I like to contribute to the community from time to time. My latest freebie is an awesome social media vector set. If you like them, let me know!

Who am I?

I'm an artist. Whether it be traditional, digital, or professional, I love every pixel and drop of paint because it creates something unique about what I do. My name is Lindsay Roberts. I was born in Leesburg, FL, and was raised in the general vicinity for my entire life. That's a long time in the sunshine state, which in fact, is more cloudy than sunny.

Since I was a little kid, I've always had a thing for art. Call it talent or a calling, but it's been in my life since I can remember. I even won a regional Fine Arts contest when I was 13.

In January of 2012 I began to pursue my dream of Web Design & Development at Full Sail University. Since then, I've earned several Course Director's awards for my outstanding work.

Now I'd like to do your website and give you a fresh, new look on the web.

“ The custom themes were exactly what I was looking for. I highly recommend Lindsay for your project.”

Why choose me?

One thing you'll get from me that isn't commonly thought about is a focus on User Experience Design. I design to create the most pleasant experience possible to keep your clients coming back for more.

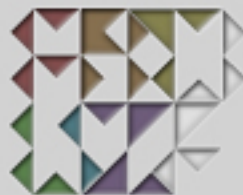

My design experience is versatile. I can complete any project to fit your needs. Bold, minimal, or stylized, I can do it all.

More than anything, I have passion. I absolutely love everything web. I will design your website with you and the user in mind so that it really comes out looking its best.

“ Amazing artist.”
